

BAKE SALE/AUCTION

Fundraising Project

General Information

BAKE SALE/AUCTION

This is a relatively easy project with little or no cost. It can also easily be integrated into other fundraising projects or programs, such as: car washes, banquets, fall festivals, etc.

Ask parents and church members to donate the baked items for your sale. By doing this, you alleviate the need to spend money on those items.

Have a table set up with the items on display and the prices marked on them. If you go with the auction method, then mark the starting bids on the items.

Have someone at the table at all times to negotiate prices and take the money. Provide a money box for this person to use.

If you do an auction, you will need an energetic person to auction off the items.

You can also do a silent auction. To do this you put a sheet of paper and pen next to each baked item with the name of the item on it and the starting bid. The people come to the table and write down their name and their bid as many times as they want until the end of the allowed auction time. The highest bidder wins the item.
